Nansha allows HK, Macao youth to pay rent with provident fund

Nansha District has launched a new initiative – the first of its kind in Mainland China – that allows Hong Kong and Macao youth to pay their monthly rent using their housing provident fund. Young people who rent designated apartments can apply to join the so-called “Monthly Rent Payment” scheme. Successful applicants can enjoy the privilege of not having to make a deposit in addition to receiving a rental subsidy from the Nansha District government. They can also choose to have their monthly rent transferred directly from their housing provident fund to the leasing companies concerned. (Nanfang Daily; in Chinese only)
